BENDIX S-CAMS NOW IN STOCK!

Engineered for Strength & Reliability

Forged cam heads make for precision sizing and strength. Induction hardened heads give these cams long life and durability.

Precision machining assures correct journal diameter and proper concentricity between the cam head and shaft.

Worn cam heads cause erratic braking action

Camshafts and bushings are matched components and should always be replaced together. Worn bushings and washers cause excessive camshaft deflection.

Camshafts with machine rolled and induction hardened shaft splines are strong and durable. Non-Hardened splines can wear prematurely and strip out.

Forged Using High Quality Carbon Steel
Allows for strength and durability in harsh conditions

Heat Treated Journal & Splines
Minimises wear on critical contact points and eliminates the risk of splines or steel sheering off the camshaft shaft

Precision Machined
Ensuring direct replacement with easy fitment and improved wear life

Oil Washed and Boxed
Allowing safe storage, transport and resistance to rusting from contamination before use

GREATER CAPACITY, GREATER SAVINGS.

Fleetguard's advanced NanoNet and Venturi Combo technologies are proven to increase oil drain intervals (OID) and lower total cost of ownership (TCO).

- With five specialised layers of media, NanoNet lube filters hold between 11 and 24 grams more contaminants than the competitors.
- Venturi Combo filters integrate Stacked Disc bypass media with Stratapore full flow media to achieve 3-4 times the capacity of competitive 'combo' filters, and up to 5 times the dust capacity. They are especially effective in tackling large amounts of sludge.
- Both technologies have been tested for cold start oil flow ability, ensuring protection of sensitive engine components.

NanoNet and Venturi Combo lube filters the best choice for the prosperity of your engine and business, and are available for many applications including Cummins, CAT, Detroit and Mack/Volvo.
